CLOSER LOOK: With Turf Paradise shuttered for the season, the appearance of this veteran in this race makes sense. The draw is not ideal, and this will be a class test, but he was a good second in the Fitzsimmons Stakes on turf in January against an excellent field and closed to win an optional claimer on dirt in December. A placing would be a fine result.

This mile trip should be better, considering he won twice here at that distance in the winter and early spring of 2018-19. While he was a well-beaten third in his return from a layoff of nearly six months on Feb. 17, he was a 14-1 outsider in a small field and had a poor start and trouble in the stretch. He has worked steadily in recent weeks and this looks like a better fit all around.

 He had an excellent winter, winning twice and finishing second on both turf and the synthetic track at Golden Gate Fields. He can race on the lead or stalk and has been effective at two turns. Jockey Umberto Rispoli is likely to have this gelding near the front. Remarkably, this is his first start on dirt at Santa Anita although he does train here.

 A graded stakes winner here in 2018, he starts for a claiming price for the first time after a layoff of seven months. He was winless in three starts last year, but if he has any resemblance of the ability that led to his convincing win in the Californian Stakes two years ago he should be competitive. He should have a pace to pursue.

CLOSER LOOK: This is her debut for a claiming price after a seventh and 12th in her first two starts of the year. This is also the 5-year-old mare's longest race and her return to the California-bred division after the losses in open company in February and earlier this month. The class relief should be a benefit, but other runners, notably stablemate Scarlet Heat, hold greater appeal.

Mike Smith gains the mount on this mare who was desperate to hold on by a nose in a one-mile maiden special weight race at a mile on Feb. 14 after leading by two lengths at the eighth pole. This will be her longest start and Smith's timing may be vital in bringing this prospect from off the pace. She will probably need to show improvement.

Though winless in seven starts, she did run well to be second in a race at this level on Feb. 22 when claimed by Keith Desormeaux. In her last start, she was more than a length clear of Avalon Ride, who has good credentials in this field, too. This 4-year-old filly did run well at 11-16 miles on turf at Del Mar last summer, suggesting this trip should be within reach.

She will not be fitted with blinkers for the first time since June. At the minimum, this filly will have an interesting role in this race as a likely pacesetter. She stole a starter allowance at a mile at 25-1 in January, but faded to finish fifth in a race at this distance on March 6 when disputing the early pace. -Steve Andersen

CLOSER LOOK: Comeback gelding would require career-best effort to upset this turf sprint stakes first start since last May. Considering he has never run particularly well first time out/first start back, that is a lot to ask. Furthermore, it is unclear how well he handles turf. His only previous turf start was a route in which he finished third-to-last. G2 winner on dirt vs. 3-year-olds last year, but a victory first start back would be surprise.

Late supplement ($2,000) to this race looks like the one to beat based on two previous U.S. turf sprints that both were fast enough. He romped in G2 at Keeneland ('soft') in 2018, he finished second by a neck in same race ('firm') in 2019. Now that Keeneland cancelled its spring meet there are fewer opportunities in Midwest. Hence, a ship to California with a workout pattern filled with bullet drills and a history of running well fresh. With a front-running or pace-pressing trip, this top turf sprinter should be tough. Top choice this handicapper.

 A 7-year-old veteran, this gelding never sprinted until last month when cut back to this five and a half-furlong distance and uncorked impressive last-to-first rally to win going away. That was second-level allowance, and though he obviously is facing tougher in this Grade 3, he should get an honest pace to flatter his rally. The knock is that early speed has been far more effective than late speed in recent rails-down turf sprints. Seven of the last eight rails-down winners were positioned first or second.

 Before he became a top dirt sprinter last summer, Cistron was known as a turf horse. So, this return to grass is no big deal for comebacker. His front-running style is the type that recently won most turf sprints with the rails at zero, and he is sufficiently versatile that he does not require the lead. He can sit second if the speedball mare to his outside goes on with it. First start since July, Cistron is a top contender. But caveat emptor: this race is merely a launch point for 2020. This is not a race he 'has to' win.

 Possibly the speed of the field, front-running mare gets significant weight break (five to seven pounds) and will be racing over a speed-friendly (with rails at zero) turf course. Five of the last eight rails-at-zero turf sprints were won by the pacesetter; two others won by a horse positioned first or second. In light, potential controlling speed, trainer does super with turf sprinters, and this mare has a legitimate shot to race gate to wire. A top contender.

 Among most accomplished in field, one of pair of Grade 1 winners, but difficult to endorse due to absence of sprint form. He won at seven furlongs two years ago, but this five and one-half furlong dash is the shortest he has tried in 23-start career. Proven class winning G1 Shadwell Turf Mile fall 2018, now making his first start in California for new trainer. Respect 'back class' turf miler, but unsure if five and a half is the right trip first start back.

Comeback colt facing older for first time, with serious deficiencies on speed and class. Has never earned a figure fast enough to win a graded sprint stakes for older, and his form last year as a 3-year-old falls short of the class test. Making his first start since August, and seems up against it in a Grade 3 that came up rather salty. Will pass on King of Speed, whose best races have all been around two turns. -Brad Free

CLAIMER LOOK: Mid-level claiming gelding attempting ambitious class hike to Grade 3 after winning $25k claiming starter three weeks ago. Swamp Souffle earned career-best fig that nine-furlong dirt race. Will strike while iron is hot, switching to surface on which he is 3-for-9, with tactical speed to be positioned right behind likely pacesetter Camino Del Paraiso to his outside. Suspect this race is asking a little too much, but 'Souffle is in best form of career and probably would get first run if/when Camino Del Paraiso falters.

Mile-and-half distance this race is three furlongs beyond any 'Paraiso tried in 34 starts. However, he is fast enough to set pace, therefore could get brave. His runner-up finish last out in G3 mile was flattered when winner River Boyne returned to win G1. Camino Del Paraiso fits on class, this marathon stakes race was won by pacesetter three times in last seven years ($7.40 Bright Thought, 2013; $22.80 Fire With Fire, 2014; $4.20 favorite Epical, 2019). Win or lose, 'Paraiso probably the one to catch though Swamp Souffle and Go for a Ride could provide company up front.

Currently 24th all-time Cal-bred money earner, most of his $1.4 million earned three-year period 2015 to 2017. Winless 15 starts since most recent victory May 2017. Now a 9-year-old, he benefits from the longer distance of this mile and one-half race. His fourth last out was better than looked because the winner led gate to wire while closers make minimal impact. 'Ashley won this race in 2015, finished third in 2017, fifth in 2019. Veteran has lost a step, but will be running late and could easily hit the board.

Top contender based on third vs. better last out mile and quarter; one-two finishers United and Cleopatra's Strike did not enter this. Oscar Dominguez won G2 two back this mile and one-half distance, so benefits by distance. Also picks up Umberto Rispoli, who could have ridden Ward 'n Jerry. 'Oscar will lag early, blast late, among fastest finishers in field and among all-time top claims this trainer. Since taken for $40k last year, 'Dominguez has earned $306,736. He carries top weight of 124 pounds, giving away four pounds to his rivals.

Uncorked impressive rally last out winning $32k claiming turf mile, positioned last of seven at the furlong pole, won going away. Super win. However, competition was inferior to these, at a mile distance nothing like this marathon. Will sit, wait and blast home, but seems outclassed. On the other hand, the last time this trainer ran an apparently outclassed horse in a graded marathon in California, it was Zuzanna winning the G3 Red Carpet at $48 in fall at Del Mar. -Brad Free
