CLOSER LOOK: Hard-hitter hasn't won a race since taking his 5yo debut back in April of 2019 but he showed some signs of life last time when kicking in late to just get up for 2nd going a longer trip; the distance is obviously not an issue and his good race makes him very tough in this spot, though he did appear to do most of his running after the race was already over last time.

Proved himself capable of getting a distance of ground when scoring over turf two starts back going 11 furlongs, though he had a great trip that day behind a fast pace for the distance; he is 0-3 on dirt in his career and, while his form has improved since he last ran on this surface, his running style is better suited to grass.

NY-bred thrived at Saratoga to win twice over nine furlongs for a trainer who made all the right moves at that meet while winning nine races from limited starters; has never been this race and he has much to prove vs. competition like this, but he is stepping up at the right time.

Was just run down for 2nd by You're to Blame in the Birdstone last time but he probably ran the better race while attacking Moretti and engaging in a game battle, before weakening a bit late; hasn't won a race since the end of 2018 but he has the form to be tough in this spot and exits a solid effort in that Birdstone; dangerous.

Group winner in France has failed to make an impact in three starts since arriving stateside and will now try dirt for the first time while making his first start for new connections off the claim; the distance is of no concern and his new connections are dangerous, but he has much to prove on this surface. -Mike Beer

CLOSER LOOK: Bernardini 13% when it comes to first-time starting 2-year-olds and roughly 9% as an overall turf sire; dam won the Grade 2 Top Flight on dirt and won a couple of races on turf; all four foals sibs are multiple winners which includes Grade 2 winner Benner Island, Grade 3 winner Victim of Love who recently finished third in the Grade 1 Ballerina, and High North who won the Iowa Derby and is the top money earner with $435K in earnings; just one failed turf start in the family from 5-time dirt winner Space Mine; not sure turf will be his preferred surface but he is in good hands with Clement and looks pretty live.

Malibu Moon 13% with debuting juveniles and 10% as an overall turf sire; dam's lone win came going a mile on Tapeta at Golden Gate; lone sib has yet to win in six tries and did not get involved the only time he ran on turf; works don't jump off the page and Mott doesn't usually have his babies cranked first time; however, the past five years he has a $2.05 ROI with babies debuting in MSW races that were a mile or longer; nonetheless, others look more attractive.

Debut did not tell us much as he was running over a muddy track and it didn't help that he hit the gate at the start; at least he's had a race and his breeding suggests he should improve going a middle distance; dam was unraced but her mom was a multiple route winner on Hollywood Park's synthetic surface; Castellano bails to ride McLovin but no complaints with Saez picking up the mount; consider for the exotics.

Frosted 2 for 17 or 11% with debuting 2-year-olds and 1 for 11 with turn runners; dam won her debut going a mile on turf and she came very close to winning a couple of Grade 3's on grass; one of three sibs is a winner and all four of her wins came going long on turf; works suggest he can run a bit and the past five year Stidham has an 11% strike rate with babies debuting in MSW races on turf that were a mile or longer; contender.

That was a nice effort in his debut as he finished with conviction once he found clear sailing mid-stretch; easy to imagine him taking a step forward with the experience behind him and McGaughey has solid numbers with 2-year-old maidens making their second start; lone sib is a 3-time winner on grass; the pick.

Second from Mott is by Exaggerator who is 3 for 25 or 12% with first-time starting juveniles and 1 for 12 with turf runners; this is the first foal out of a mare who did not win in 11 starts; since it wasn't noted earlier the past five years Mott has an 11% strike rate with 2-year-olds debuting in MSW races on turf that were a mile or longer; prefer him over his stablemate but at the most would use him on the bottom half of the exotics. -Randy Goulding

CLOSER LOOK: Her recent form would make her the horse to beat if she could reproduce it here; however, there are reasons to be skeptical, as she ran those superior recent races for Orlando Noda, who was winning at a 33% rate during the Saratoga meet; now she's racing first off the claim for James Ferraro, who is 0-for-24 with that move over the past 5 years; figures to get sent to the lead from this rail draw, but she figures to have company with other speed drawn to her outside; proceed with caution.

Made up a ton of ground in the last furlong to get up for the victory in the slop at Saratoga last time, but that late run was largely due to an extremely fast early pace that fell apart; may get some pace to close into once again, but she's moving up in class and meeting a significantly tougher field than she's faced in recent starts; would need to produce a career-best performance to even hit the board against this crew; leaning elsewhere.

Was legitimately disqualified from 3rd last time after veering out under left-hand encouragement in midstretch, cutting off today's rival Fierce Lady; that said, this filly still put in a good effort, staying on gamely after making a wide move at the quarter pole while earning a career-best 78 Beyer; a repeat of that number puts her in the mix here; while her two victories did come in gate-to-wire fashion, she's versatile enough to sit just off the leaders and pounce; contender.

Potential favorite seeks her third consecutive victory while moving through her NY-bred allowance conditions; while she's registered daylight wins in her last couple of starts, she has benefited from circumstances; caught a speed-favoring track when she romped in the slop two back, and then last time she stalked a moderate pace against inferior competition; this is a significant step up in class and she's going to encounter a more testing pace scenario; that 80 Beyer last time suggests she may be up to the challenge, but she doesn't have much room for error; demand value.

What happened last time? She was a little dead on the board to go off at 3-1 while dropping in for a tag, perhaps a sign that she wasn't quite ready off the long layoff; while that poor showing is a concern, she's now going out for Kelly Breen, who is 10-for-33 (30%, $1.98 ROI) first off the claim in dirt sprints over the past 5 years; it's a good sign that she's moving up in class and her prior form makes her a major player here; that said, she still has to deal with other speed in this spot, and she's clearly best when she can set the pace; mixed signals.

Was in the midst of a mild stretch rally last time when she got cut off by Good Credence; was never going to win that race, but may have been cost a position in the incident; this 3YO has been well supported in all of her recent starts (sent off favored 7 times in a row) but she doesn't have much to show for it; the trainer switch to Rudy Rodriguez has helped a little but she's still not delivering on her early potential; rating tactics didn't quite work last time so perhaps Saez will ride her more aggressively here; though, that could just help to set it up for one of the closers; capable if at her best.

Looked like an improving filly coming into that last start; had been compromised by a slow pace in her return from the layoff, and followed that up with a career-best effort on July 23; was done no favors by a speed-favoring track that day yet she still closed resolutely to just miss; however she couldn't run back to that effort last time as she failed to get involved after losing contact with the field early; now Linda Rice adds blinkers, a strong move for her barn, and the rider switch to Jose Lezcano doesn't hurt; may finally get the fast pace setup that she needs to be successful; don't underestimate. -David Aragona

CLOSER LOOK: Just missed breaking her maiden after a difficult trip while making her 3yo debut at Tampa off the layoff, and she has improved in her two starts since returning to NY this summer; not sure she faced the strongest field of maidens last time but she easily handled that group to pick up her initial win for top connections; the addition of lasix this year has moved her up and she looks like a threat right back vs. this field.

NY-bred has paired up top Beyers in her first two starts as a 4yo but has done so while failing to threaten in those two Saratoga starts; didn't have much of a chance off the layoff when rated behind a slow pace and then getting caught over behind horses in the stretch, and she just couldn't make a late impact last time over 'good' turf; needs to step it up as she makes her third start off the layoff.

Lone win to date came on the main track but she run quite well in all four turf starts to date while coming up empty; took a nice step forward while making her 3yo debut off the layoff two back, and she finished a good 3rd with little chance to impact behind front-running Duopoly last time; big threat with blinkers going on for Mott.

Underrated NY-bred turned all the way back last time and rallied for 2nd before being claimed for $40k; stretching back out in distance is a positive for her and she has the tactical speed to land the right kind of trip here while making her first start for new connections; don't overlook.

Failed to match-up with Grade 2 rivals going longer two back and she could not threaten front-running Duopoly last time, despite sitting a nice trip right in behind her pace all the way; did battle back gamely to outfinish Eye of a Soldier for 2nd and looks like a major player in this spot as one of the favorites. –Mike Beer
